INDIGST 2M03:
INDIGENOUS RESEARCH -
METHODS AND ETHICS

FALL 2021

VIRTUAL LECTURE:
MONDAYS 11:30 – 12:20PM, AND WEDNESDAYS, 1:30 – 1:20PM
*(SEE AVENUE TO LEARN FOR CLASS ZOOM LINK)

Instructor: Robert Innes
Email: innesr3@mcmaster.ca

Office hours: by appointment

Table of Contents

Course Description 3
Course Objectives 3
  Learning outcomes: 3
Required Materials and Texts 3
Class Format 3
Course Evaluation – Overview 3
Course Evaluation – Details 4
Weekly Course Schedule and Required Readings 6

Week 1
  Wednesday September 8th, 2021 – Introduction to the Course: 6

Week 2
  Monday September 13th, 2021 – What is Indigenous Studies?
  Wednesday September 15th, 2021
  Readings 6

Week 3
  Monday September 20th – Starting and Doing the Research
  Wednesday September 22nd 6

Week 4
  Monday September 27th, 2021 – Gender and Research
  Wednesday September 29th 7

INNES - INDIGST 2M03 2021 (FALL)
McMaster University, Indigenous Studies Program

Readings:

Week 5
Monday October 4th, 2021 - Challenges in Conducting Indigenous Studies Research
Wednesday October 6th, 2021

Week 6 – READING BREAK NO CLASS

Week 7
Monday October 18th, 2021 – Historical Research
Wednesday October 20th, 2021

Week 8
Monday October 25th, 2021 – Oral History Research:
Guest Speaker Dr. Winona Wheeler, Department of Indigenous Studies, University of Saskatchewan
Wednesday October 27th, 2021

Readings:

Week 9
Monday November 1st, 2021 – Interviewing
Wednesday November 3rd, 2021

Week 10
Monday November 8th, 2021 – Photovoice: Guest Speaker Dr. Chelsea Gabel, Indigenous Studies Program, McMaster University
Wednesday November 10th, 2021

Week 11
Monday November 15th, 2021 – Film/Literary Research: Guest Speaker Dr. Renae Watchman, Indigenous Studies Program, McMaster University
Wednesday November 17th, 2021

Week 12
Monday November 22nd, 2021 – Health Research
Wednesday November 25th, 2021

Week 13
Monday November 22nd, 2021 – Quantitative Research: Guest Speaker, Dr. Chris Andersen, Faculty of Native Studies, University of Alberta
Wednesday November 25th, 2021

Week 14
Monday December 6th, 2021 – Writing Day
Wednesday December 8th, 2021 – Last Assignment Due

Course Policies
Submission of Assignments: Students will submit their written work through Avenue to Learn at any time during the week it is due up until 11:59 on the Friday of that week.

Grades

Late Assignments

Absences, Missed Work, Illness

INNES - INDIGST 2M03 2021 (FALL)
Course Description

This course will provide an introduction to research methods and issues related to conducting Indigenous Studies research. Indigenous Studies research is grounded in ethically conduct of research built on reciprocal relationships. It will discuss the types of questions and projects that are well-suited to Indigenous studies research and approaches to data collection. Students will learn how to prepare a research proposal that is grounded within an Indigenous Studies approach to research.

Course Objectives

The goal of the course is to gain a deeper understanding of the approaches to Indigenous Studies research.

Learning outcomes:

- Have a foundational understanding of Indigenous Studies approaches to research
- Gain an understanding of some of the issues/challenges related to conducting Indigenous Studies research
- Be able to prepare a research proposal
- Strengthen your skills in speaking in a group setting.

Required Materials and Texts

- Scholarly journal articles will be provided for the weekly readings. Students will be able to access most of the articles through the library or google. Some articles that are not available electronically will be uploaded to the course page.

Class Format

Weekly Asynchronous Video Lecture
Weekly Live Zoom Sessions

Course Evaluation – Overview

INNES - INDIGST 2M03 2021 (FALL)
Assignment | Weight | Due Date
--- | --- | ---
Critical Analysis | 20% | October 1st
Literature Review | 30% | November 12th
Methods Paper | 35% | Dec 8th
Participation | 15% | Throughout

Course Evaluation – Details

For this course you will choose a research topic that will serve as the basis for all your written assignments. Throughout the term you will complete elements of research planning and writing – or the stages of a research paper – but will not write the final paper. The goal of these assignments is to break apart the research process and teach you several of the skills needed to complete a successful research project.

1. Critical Analysis (10%), due date: October 1st

   Students will write a 3-page critical analysis of an article that is related to the research topic. Outline the author’s main argument. Explain to what degree the author makes a sound and logical argument? Then identify strengths you could incorporate into a research project – such as a particular approach and an idea they used. Weakness could include such things as something that is not covered in the research that you plan to address in your proposed research – noting why is it potentially important to address. (double-spaced and properly formatted according to course writing conventions outlined below).

2. Literature Review (30%), due date: November 12th

   The best research projects have a clear focus and direction and are well situated within the body of the work that already exists. Research statements and literature reviews therefore provide strong guideposts for your work. In this assignment, students will provide a review of the relevant literature for their topic that forms the basis of a research question and a research statement. In other words: building on the literature that exists, what do you hope to learn about your given topic? Based on your review of the literature what questions will do you want to answer?

   After introducing your topic, research question, and research statement in a 1-page introduction, students will complete an in-depth literature review in the form of an annotated bibliography based on research topic of your choice – students are encouraged to talk to me about their research topics. This section will include full citations of published, academic sources. Each citation will be accompanied by a summary (brief) of the source (its main topic, arguments, and approaches) as well as your explanation of how this source will be useful for your research (we will talk more about this in class). You will also be expected to draw out main themes and ideas between the between the sources, and in a brief conclusion you will comment on this body of literature as a whole. For instance, what does this select body of literature tell us about this topic (what’s been addressed, what silences still exist?); what disagreements or debates did you notice?; which arguments and ideas were effective?

The purpose of this assignment is to hone your ability to search out effective academic sources and to develop an understanding of how they fit together and speak to each other as a larger body or work. This will give an in-depth overview of the literature related to your topic. You will include 5 academic sources and your final review should be 6-pages in long (double-spaced and properly formatted according to course writing conventions outlined below).

3. Methods Paper (35%), due date: December 8th

Students will draw on class readings to evaluate and analyze the research methods and methodologies covered in the course so far. You will be expected to explain and synthesize these various approaches and will analyze their strengths and weaknesses for Indigenous Studies research generally, and your own research project in particular. For instance, how can qualitative and quantitative methods be used specifically for responsible and robust Indigenous studies research? What benefits and limitations do these and others such as oral histories and Indigenous methodologies offer? The second part will outline your research methods and research process (or the best way to gather the information needed for your research). You will outline any relevant methodologies for your proposed topic and provide a rationale for which one will work best for you. Be explicit here, directly linking methodologies to your research goals and questions. Questions to consider when choosing methods and methodologies include: the topic and timeframe you are exploring; potential research partners and their ages and abilities; ethical considerations; availability and accessibility of researchers; time and mobility constraints; the value of the methods/methodologies to Indigenous Studies research. This paper will be between 8 and 10-pages long. (double-spaced and properly formatted according to course writing conventions outlined below).

4. Participation (15%) Throughout:

This course includes a seminar/discussion component. Students are expected to come to class fully prepared by having read the assigned readings and contribute to meaningful discussions. Students who do not participate in class discussions will not receive a passing grade for participation. Absences will be deemed as non-participation. Students should prepare several talking points that will facilitate discussion on the themes of the readings, arguments, analysis, and other thoughts.

Students will be assessed on their ability to effectively communicate their critical understanding of the readings in a professional and academic manner. There are no make-up assignments for missing a class. Improvement in the quantity and quality of student participation over the duration of the term will count towards participation grade.

Weekly Course Schedule and Required Readings

Week 1

Wednesday September 8\(^{\text{th}}\), 2021 – Introduction to the Course:

Readings:
- Review syllabus

Week 2

Monday September 13\(^{\text{th}}\), 2021 – What is Indigenous Studies?

Wednesday September 15\(^{\text{th}}\), 2021

Readings

Week 3

Monday September 20\(^{\text{th}}\) – Starting and Doing the Research

Wednesday September 22\(^{\text{nd}}\)

Readings:

Week 4
Monday September 27th, 2021 – Gender and Research

Wednesday September 29th
Readings:

Week 5

Monday October 4th, 2021 - Challenges in Conducting Indigenous Studies Research

Wednesday October 6th, 2021
Readings:
Week five notes:

Week 6 – READING BREAK NO CLASS
Monday October 11th, 2021
Wednesday October 13th, 2021

Week 7
Monday October 18th, 2021 – Historical Research

Wednesday October 20th, 2021

Readings:

Week 8
Monday October 25th, 2021 – Oral History Research:
Guest Speaker Dr. Winona Wheeler, Department of Indigenous Studies, University of Saskatchewan

Wednesday October 27th, 2021

Readings:
Week 9

Monday November 1st, 2021 – Interviewing

Wednesday November 3rd, 2021

Readings:

• Leddy, Lianne C, “Interviewing Nookomis and Other Reflections of an Indigenous Historian” Oral History Forum d’histoire orale, 30 (Special Issue 2010): 1-18 Available in the Avenue to Learn course page

Week 10

Monday November 8th, 2021 – Photovoice: Guest Speaker Dr. Chelsea Gabel, Indigenous Studies Program, McMaster University

Wednesday November 10th, 2021

Readings:

*Week ten notes:
Week 11

Monday November 15th, 2021 – Film/Literary Research: Guest Speaker Dr. Renae Watchman, Indigenous Studies Program, McMaster University

Wednesday November 17th, 2021

Readings:

Week 12

Monday November 22nd, 2021 – Health Research

Wednesday November 25th, 2021

Readings:

Week 13

Monday November 22nd, 2021 – Quantitative Research: Guest Speaker, Dr. Chris Andersen, Faculty of Native Studies, University of Alberta
Wednesday November 25th, 2021

Readings:

Week 14
- Monday December 6th, 2021 – Writing Day
- Wednesday December 8th 2021 – Last Assignment Due

Course Policies

Submission of Assignments:
Students will submit their written work through Avenue to Learn at any time during the week it is due up until 11:59 on the Friday of that week.

Grades
Grades will be based on the McMaster University grading scale:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>MARK</th>
<th>GRADE</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>90-100</td>
<td>A+</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>85-90</td>
<td>A</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>80-84</td>
<td>A-</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>77-79</td>
<td>B+</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>73-76</td>
<td>B</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>70-72</td>
<td>B-</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>67-69</td>
<td>C+</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>63-66</td>
<td>C</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>60-62</td>
<td>C-</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>57-59</td>
<td>D+</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

INNES - INDIGST 2M03 2021 (FALL)
Late Assignments
Students will submit their written work through Avenue to Learn at any time during the week it is due up until 11:59 on the Friday of that week. If you think you will have trouble meeting a deadline, please come and speak with me as penalties may apply (except in the case of documented illness or emergency). Late assignment will be deducted 10%. Assignments will be accepted for up to 2 weeks. Assignments not submitted will receive a 0.

Writing Conventions
Students must use Chicago's Manual of Style, which is the standard in the discipline of Indigenous Studies. The Chicago Manual of Style is available online through the library website:
http://www.chicagomanualofstyle.org.cyber.usask.ca/16/contents.html

All work must be typed, double-spaced, and use either Times New Roman or Cambria 12-point font with standard margins. Ensure that your written work includes your full name, student number, and date. You can include a title page and title for major assignments. Please keep a digital copy of all your work in case I ask for a second copy.

Absences, Missed Work, Illness
Medical documentation will be needed for all extensions on major assignments. Example, annotated bibliography, final paper, or final exam

Avenue to Learn
In this course we will be using Avenue to Learn. Students should be aware that, when they access the electronic components of this course, private information such as first and last names, user names for the McMaster e-mail accounts, and program affiliation may become apparent to all other students in the same course. The available information is dependent on the technology used. Continuation in this course will be deemed consent to this disclosure. If you have any questions or concerns about such disclosure please discuss this with the course instructor.

University Policies, 2020 - 2021

Academic Integrity
You are expected to exhibit honesty and use ethical behaviour in all aspects of the learning process. Academic credentials you earn are rooted in principles of honesty and academic integrity. It is your responsibility to understand what constitutes academic dishonesty.

Academic dishonesty is to knowingly act or fail to act in a way that results or could result in unearned academic credit or advantage. This behaviour can result in serious consequences, e.g. the grade of zero on an assignment, loss of credit with a notation on the transcript (notation reads: “Grade of F assigned for academic dishonesty”), and/or suspension or expulsion from the university. For information on the various types of academic dishonesty please refer to the Academic Integrity Policy, located at:

https://secretariat.mcmaster.ca/university-policies-procedures-guidelines/

The following illustrates only three forms of academic dishonesty:
- plagiarism, e.g. the submission of work that is not one’s own or for which other credit has been obtained.
- improper collaboration in group work.
- copying or using unauthorized aids in tests and examinations.

Authenticity/Plagiarism Detection

Some courses may use a web-based service (Turnitin.com) to reveal authenticity and ownership of student submitted work. For courses using such software, students will be expected to submit their work electronically either directly to Turnitin.com or via an online learning platform (e.g. Avenue to Learn, etc.) using plagiarism detection (a service supported by Turnitin.com) so it can be checked for academic dishonesty.

Students who do not wish their work to be submitted through the plagiarism detection software must inform the Instructor before the assignment is due. No penalty will be assigned to a student who does not submit work to the plagiarism detection software. All submitted work is subject to normal verification that standards of academic integrity have been upheld (e.g., on-line search, other software, etc.). For more details about McMaster’s use of Turnitin.com please go to www.mcmaster.ca/academicintegrity

Course with an Online Element

Some courses may use on-line elements (e.g. e-mail, Avenue to Learn, LearnLink, web pages, capa, Moodle, ThinkingCap, etc.). Students should be aware that, when they access the electronic components of a course using these elements, private information such as first and last names, user names for the McMaster e-mail accounts, and program affiliation may become apparent to all other students in the same course. The available information is dependent on the technology used. Continuation in a course that uses on-line elements will be deemed consent to this disclosure. If you have any questions or concerns about such disclosure please discuss this with the course instructor.

Online Proctoring

Some courses may use online proctoring software for tests and exams. This software may require students to turn on their video camera, present identification, monitor and record their computer activities, and/or lock/restrict their browser or other applications/software during tests or exams. This software may be required to be installed before the test/exam begins.

Conduct Expectations

As a McMaster student, you have the right to experience, and the responsibility to demonstrate, respectful and dignified interactions within all of our living, learning and working communities. These expectations are described in the Code of Student Rights & Responsibilities (the “Code”). All students share the responsibility of maintaining a positive environment for the academic and personal growth of all McMaster community members, whether in person or online.

It is essential that students be mindful of their interactions online, as the Code remains in effect in virtual learning environments. The Code applies to any interactions that adversely affect, disrupt, or interfere with reasonable participation in University activities. Student disruptions or behaviours that interfere with university functions on online platforms (e.g. use of Avenue 2 Learn, WebEx or Zoom for delivery), will be taken very seriously and will be investigated. Outcomes may include restriction or removal of the involved students’ access to these platforms.

Academic Accommodation of Students with Disabilities

Students with disabilities who require academic accommodation must contact Student Accessibility Services (SAS) at 905-525-9140 ext. 28652 or sas@mcmaster.ca to make arrangements with a Program Coordinator. For further information, consult McMaster University’s Academic Accommodation of Students with Disabilities policy.

Requests for Relief for missed Academic term work

McMaster Student Absence Form (MSAF): In the event of an absence for medical or other reasons, students should review and follow the Academic Regulation in the Undergraduate Calendar “Requests for Relief for Missed Academic Term Work”.

Academic Accommodation for Religious, Indigenous, or Spiritual Observances (RISO)
Students requiring academic accommodation based on religious, indigenous or spiritual observances should follow the procedures set out in the RISO policy. Students should submit their request to their Faculty Office normally within 10 working days of the beginning of term in which they anticipate a need for accommodation or to the Registrar's Office prior to their examinations. Students should also contact their instructors as soon as possible to make alternative arrangements for classes, assignments, and tests.

Copyright and Recording

Students are advised that lectures, demonstrations, performances, and any other course material provided by an instructor include copyright protected works. The Copyright Act and copyright law protect every original literary, dramatic, musical and artistic work, including lectures by University instructors.

The recording of lectures, tutorials, or other methods of instruction may occur during a course. Recording may be done by either the instructor for the purpose of authorized distribution, or by a student for the purpose of personal study. Students should be aware that their voice and/or image may be recorded by others during the class. Please speak with the instructor if this is a concern for you.

Extreme Circumstances

The University reserves the right to change the dates and deadlines for any or all courses in extreme circumstances (e.g., severe weather, labour disruptions, etc.). Changes will be communicated through regular McMaster communication channels, such as McMaster Daily News, Avenue to Learn and/or McMaster email.

Faculty of Social Sciences E-mail Communication Policy

Effective September 1, 2010, it is the policy of the Faculty of Social Sciences that all e-mail communication sent from students to instructors (including TAs), and from students to staff, must originate from the student’s own McMaster University e-mail account. This policy protects confidentiality and confirms the identity of the student. It is the student’s responsibility to ensure that communication is sent to the university from a McMaster account. If an instructor becomes aware that a communication has come from an alternate address, the instructor may not reply at his or her discretion.

Course Modification

The instructor and university reserve the right to modify elements of the course during the term. The university may change the dates and deadlines for any or all courses in extreme circumstances. If either type of modification becomes necessary, reasonable notice and communication with the students will be given with explanation and the opportunity to comment on changes. It is the responsibility of the student to check... his/her McMaster email and course websites weekly during the term and to note any changes.